General and Mrs. Macomb's Reception

Perfect in every detail was the party that was given on New Year's day by General and Mrs. Montgomery Macomb. Although there were no invitations issued, their home on Beretania avenue was thronged between the hours of the reception. The General and his wife, have endeared themselves to the community consequently their many friends and acquaintances were anxious to call and wish them a Happy New Year. General and Mrs. Macomb, Admiral and Mrs. Thomas and Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cowles received in the drawing room. The hostess looked exceedingly handsome in an imported gown of white satin, with an overdress of white marquisette and lace. Mrs. Thomas was clad in a cream crepe de chine, embroidered in a conventional design. A mauve hat was worn with the costume. Mrs. Walter Cowles' costume of chiffon and lace was greatly admired. A becoming hat of white, with touches of pink completed the toilette. During the hours of the reception the Second Infantry band played, which lent additional pleasure to the occasion. The decorations for the affair were simple, but effective. The entire house was filled with roses and other cut flowers—many of the flowers were gifts that had been sent to the hostess. In the dining room, Mrs. Neville served coffee and Mrs. Frank B. Edwards poured tea at a table, profusely decorated with white and yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. Neville was becomingly gowned in a white lingerie with touches of yellow. The large picture hat of burnt straw, with trimming of yellow roses, harmonized with the chic toilette. Mrs. Frank B. Edwards looked girlish and pretty in a cream net with embellishments of lace over China silk, a white hat, trimmed in pink roses and baby blue ribbon completed the chic costume. In the same room, Mrs. Edward Julius Timberlake and Mrs. Clifton Carroll Carter served the omelette. The former army matron looked stunning in a handsome China lace robe, over white satin, a large white chip hat trimmed in roses was worn. Mrs. Clifton Carroll Carter wore a smart hand embroidered afternoon frock of white. A long pink sash was worn, arranged in the new French effect. A large picture hat trimmed in white plumes and pink roses was exceedingly becoming. A number of the service women assisted in the entertainment of the guests. Among them were Mrs. Wooten of Fort De Russy, who looked charming in a pale blue crepe de chine, with a large black hat, surrounded with a white plume. Mrs. James Madison Kennedy of Fort Shafter and Miss Sylvia Wilder also assisted. The former wore a becoming gown of white China silk, heavily embroidered. A handsome black velvet adorned hat completed the costume. Miss Wilder was in shades of mauve and white, with a lavender picture hat.

Miss Ruth Anderson's Swimming Party.

Miss Ruth Anderson invited a dozen friends to participate in a swimming party that was given Friday afternoon. The hostess and her guests met at three o'clock at the home of Miss Anderson's grandmother at Wai-iki. Attractive bathing suits were donned and an hour or more was devoted to swimming. At half after five a delicious buffet tea was served in the dining room. The circular table was adorned with double carnations and maiden hair fern. Among those who accepted Miss Ruth Anderson's hospitality were Miss Dorothy Wood of New York, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Thelma Murphy, Miss Helen McLean, Miss Martha McChesney, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss M. Chaplin, Miss M. Jones, Miss Francis Couzens and others.

Social Calendar

Mr. Charles Brennan's Dancing Party.

The members of the younger social set are anticipating the dancing party that is to be given this evening by Mr. Charles Brennan. The party is to be given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond on Beretania avenue.

Mrs. Brown Entertains.

The members of the Wednesday Bridge Club have enjoyed the meetings that have taken place every fortnight since the club was organized nearly two years ago. None of the meetings have proved more enjoyable than the one this week—which took place at the home of Mrs. Turner, U. S. A. On this occasion, Mrs. Brown, wife of Colonel Brown of the Artillery Corps, was the hostess. The prizes were exceptionally handsome and were won by Mrs. Putnam and Mrs. Frederick William Coleman. The former army matron was presented with an exquisite Canton salad bowl. Mrs. Coleman's trophy was a large cake plate of the same ware. After the awarding of the prizes the hostess and her guests adjourned to the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served. A number of Hawaiian boys, who possess excellent voices played on mandolins, guitars and ukuleles and sang during the repast. The music was greatly enjoyed by the assembled company. Among those who enjoyed the hostess hospitality were Mrs. Wooten, Mrs. Neville, Mrs. Arthur Marks, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Joseph Sheedy.

Dinner on U. S. S. South Dakota.

The wardroom of the U. S. S. South Dakota was the scene of much gaily Wednesday evening, when Lieut. Todd, U. S. N., entertained a number of friends at dinner. The table was handsomely decorated with Duchess roses and smilax. The place cards were embossed in gold with the South Dakota in miniature. Attached to the card were ship's ribbons that were worn by the "fair sex." During the elaborate dinner, a stringed orchestra played, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the affair. Among the host's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hocking, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Helen North, Miss Lydia McStocker, Miss Rennie Catton, Lieut. Baughman, Ensign Harzer, Ensign Conner, Lieut. Commander Thomas and others.

Buffet Tea on Board the U. S. S. West Virginia.

Tuesday afternoon, Lieut. Commander James of the U. S. S. West Virginia was host at a charmingly appointed tea that was given in the wardroom of the ship. Elaborate decorations were planned and carried out for the occasion. The color scheme was white and green. In the center of the long table, from which the buffet tea was served, was placed a tall cut glass vase filled with white Alford Carrier roses. From the ceiling was arranged a handsome canopy, composed of mauve and white roses, studded here and there with tiny green and white, electric lights. The favors for the women folk were corage bouquets of white roses and maiden hair tied with ship's ribbons, embossed in gold letters with U. S. S. West Virginia. During the delightful tea the ship's orchestra discoursed popular airs and played later on the quarter-deck for dancing. Among those who participated in this delightful affair were Mrs. Bell, Miss Ray Bell, Mr. and Mrs. E. Blanchard, Miss Kamakea Magoon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayelden, Miss Emmaline Magoon, Miss Florence White, Lieut. Commander James, Lieut. Gay, Lieut.

Davies, Lieut. Lowrey, Lieut. Beeler, Mr. Eaton Magoon and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder entertained at dinner, Wednesday evening, complimentary to Captain Elliott of the U. S. S. Maryland. Cut flowers and maiden hair fern formed an attractive table decoration. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, Mrs. J. S. Walker and the guests of honor Captain Elliott.

Captain and Mrs. Putnam's Dinner.

Quantities of scarlet carnations and maiden hair fern adorned the table at the enjoyable dinner party that was given Thursday evening by Captain and Mrs. Putnam at their home at Fort De Russy. The dinner was given in honor of Captain and Mrs. Game and Captain and Mrs. Edwards.

Dinner on U. S. S. Maryland.

Thursday evening the quarterdeck of the U. S. S. Maryland resounded with mirth and gaiety, when Captain Elliott and the wardroom officers entertained three score of guests at a dinner dance. The dinner was served on the quarterdeck at a U-shaped table, which occupied one end of the deck. The table was decorated with a profusion of red carnations, smilax and maidenhair fern, with accessories of silver candelabra, adorned with scarlet silk shades. The seventy-five places were arranged on the outer edge of the U-shaped table and were marked by dainty and attractive place cards. The quarterdeck was enclosed with palms, flags of all nations and pennants. A soft light was shed over the entire scene by dozens and dozens of Japanese lanterns that were festooned around the deck. The Maryland's orchestra played during dinner and for the dancing. Just before the conclusion of the elaborate dinner Captain Elliott arose and said as it was leap year, the young girls and young matrons were expected to ask for the dances and attend to the general welfare of the menfolk that were present. This announcement was met with great enthusiasm, and the "fair sex" entered with ardor into their new duties, asking the "sterner sex" for dances, escorting them around the deck and showing an exaggerated interest by fanning them and trying to anticipate all their wants. It is needless to state that the innovation promoted jollity, and the young people who attended voted the entertainment one of the social successes of the season. One of the popular rendezvous was an arbor fashioned out of coconut fiber and palm leaves. The enclosure was built in front of the turret and was fitted up with cozy corners, arranged for interesting tete-tetes. Punch and lemonade was served in this arbor, the young people partaking of the cooling beverages during the intermissions of the dances.

Among those who enjoyed the delightful dinner dance were Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tenney, Mrs. Helen Noonan, Miss Wilhelmine Tenney, Miss Haviland, Miss Geraldine Neuman, Miss Violet Makee, Miss Hattie Lucas, Miss Callie Lucas, Miss Nora Swanzy, the Misses Wilder of Leliehua, Miss Julie McStocker, Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Lydia McStocker, Lieut. and Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Lieut. and Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Dr. Tucker Smith, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Lang, Lieut. and Mrs. Calhoun, Lieut. and Mrs. Gaylor, Miss Helen North, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Miss Anderson, Miss Buckley, Captain and Mrs. Gill, Lieut. and Mrs. Wade, Captain J. M. Elliott, Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Shapley, Lieut. Comdr. Pope, Lieut. Pence, Lieut. Ecklund, Lieut. C. A. Bonville, Ensign W. C. Stiles, Ensign Lichtenstein, Ensign C. W. Distinguished Guests in Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur Vedder arrived in Honolulu Xmas Day on the Siberia, and are registered at the Moana Hotel. Following is a clipping from the Pasadena News:

As a fitting climax to an unprecedented number of delightful social functions incidental to the marriage of Miss Florence Martha Thomson and George Arthur Vedder came the wedding last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dawson Thomson of South Orange Grove avenue.

The bride's gown of ivory white satin was combined with white velours of which the court train was made and her tulip veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. Fuchess and point lace, which was worn by her mother on her wedding day, formed the furniture for the noice of this wedding robe. The bride carried no flowers, but instead of the conventional bouquet an ivory-bound prayer book, and her jeweled ornament was a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom.

After the ceremony, congratulations were showered upon the young couple, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomson stood near to receive with the bride and groom. Mrs. Thomson wore an elegant gown of black velvet complemented with white lace, and diamond ornaments.

Later the bridal party gathered around the table in the dining-room and made merry while the too guests present were served to refreshments on the verandas and about the room. Hotel Maryland furnished this service and its management should be congratulated upon the brilliant success achieved in serving so many with such promptness and dispatch. One of the unexpected and interesting events of the evening was the announcement at the bridal party table of the engagement of one of the bridesmaids, Miss Ada Seeley, and Mr. Roy Bailey of Los Angeles, and the newly affianced maid was made the subject of speech-making and congratulation.

As the guests departed each was presented with a box of wedding cake ornamented with a monogram of gold. In one of the upper rooms the wedding gifts were arranged that the guests might have an opportunity of seeing the many costly and elegant remembrances which had been showered upon this popular young couple.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Vedder departed upon their wedding journey, the destination having been kept a secret, but it is generally understood that they sail Tuesday on the Siberia for Honolulu. The bride's going-away gown is blue and grey mixed cheviot tailor-made, and she wore a black velvet hat trimmed with red japonicas. Mr. and Mrs. Vedder will be at home to their friends in February at 275 Palmetto Drive in the new home recently built for them.

The Misses McStocker's Dinner.

Yellow coreopsis and maiden hair fern formed the decorations, at the pretty appointed dinner that was given Tuesday evening by the Misses McStocker. The place cards were hand-painted with a flower design of coreopsis. After an elaborate course dinner the party motored to the Moana Hotel, where they enjoyed the officers' ball. Among those who partook of Miss Julie and Miss Lydia McStocker's hospitality were Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Helen North, Lieut. Leo Sahm, Ensign Horner and Dr. Baughman of the U. S. S. Colorado and Ensign West of the U. S. S. Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillingham's Luncheon.

Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham entertained informally in honor of Captain Terhune of the United States Marine Corps. The table was prettily decorated with Shasta daisies and maidenhair fern. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Captain and Mrs. Clifton Carroll Carter, Miss Frances Dillingham and Captain Terhune.

Miss Alice Cooper to Entertain.

Miss Alice Cooper will entertain the "Luncheon Club" on Thursday, January the eleventh. Several guests will be invited to enjoy the affair, beside the club members.

Tea on January Tenth.

Mrs. Frank Hatcheler and Mrs. S. L. Douglas have issued invitations for a tea, that is to be given at the former's home on Makiki street. The hours are from 3 to 6. On this occasion Mrs. Percy Cleghorn will be the guest of honor.

Chowder at Pearl Harbor.

The chowder party given last evening at Pearl City was a distinct success and was participated in by a number of the smart set of this city. A number of people left on the 5:15 train, while others motored. The chowder was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson. Although Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson were not the host and hostess for the occasion, but kindly loaned their house. The chowder and hot supper was served under the trees in true picnic fashion. Captain Elliott of the U. S. S. Maryland secured the ship's band for the occasion. The musicians played during supper and afterwards for the dancing that took place in the large pavilion. The bright moonlight
